Annual Report

IRIS: The Fine Arts Society

IRIS, the Fine Arts Society works towards inspiring and providing a platform to creative young minds of Jesus and Mary College. We have been an essential part of this prestigious institution since the 1970s. Established in the early 1970s, this society was then known as the 'Paint and Brush Society'. Later, the society's name was changed to 'IRIS, the Fine Arts Society'.

The Society presently has more than 50 core team and 40+ non-core team members with four office bearers: Kritika Dhawan (President), Khushboo Nagpal (President), Palkin (Vice President) and Vani Bajaj (Vice President) accompanied by two heads: Drishya Taneja (Marketing Head) and Isha Arora (Organising Head). The Society aims at holistic development of students by giving them a platform to nurture their artistic talent away from a conventional sense and encourages students to participate in various art activities inside and outside the college. We as the fine arts society provide an opportunity to redefine and reshape concepts and experiences of individuals into some or other form of art.

Starting off the academic session of 2021-22, an enthralling brush calligraphy workshop was organised. It was conducted by Ms. Devanshi Juneja, a self-taught social media brush calligraphy personality. This session was held online for JMC and Non-JMC students. Students participated in this event with immense enthusiasm.

IRIS is especially known for their social media campaigns. Promptober is one such campaign. Picking from the name, we take a different theme for every week in the month of October and support artists from in and outside of JMC, on our social media page by posting all of those entries. This year, the themes were Neon Art, Halloween, Mood board making and Dessert decoration.

Followed by this, we hosted a simple yet elegant Diwali Competition. Again as a tradition, the competition had two facets, Diya decoration and Rangoli making. We received the most beautiful entries for this competition that resonated with our Indian culture. Unfortunately, due to COVID restrictions we had to host this competition in an online setting.

Following our tradition to conduct a talent hunt competition for all freshers of JMC, we organised a series of two versions of the talent hunt to cater to all students keeping in mind the effects of the pandemic. The first version included Galaxy Art, Illusion Art, and Poetry illustration. The second version included sketching, calligraphy, watercolour and cartooning. This competition was a big hit with more than 50 entries in total.

Keeping in mind the current trends and the need of college students, we saw that there is a growing need of using Canva as a skill. We collaborated with Mr. Vikas Roy for an online canva workshop with 87+ participants in the workshop. It was a huge success and especially beneficial for our team members.

Ending the year with a bang, we organised our annual festival BEAUX ARTS 2022, which included a fundraiser (held offline in college for JMC students) and the main competition for which the entries were collected in an online mode. The fundraiser encompassed supporting small business owners, from thrifting, candles, accessories, sunglasses, brownies, corn chaat, makeup and bodypaint stalls to spill the paint stalls. The paint stall was especially loved by the students of JMC. The main competition had three sub themes: Tape art, Comic reels, spill art.

As the Fine Arts society, we are also given the responsibility of the decor for all college events. We are recognised for our contributions towards the decor for events (including Rangoli making and MPH decor) for NAAC visits, PTSA, Independence Day, Farewell, etc.

The society owes its heartfelt gratitude to the Principal Prof. Sandra Joseph for her constant support. This year for the Fine Arts Society would not have been a successful one without the unrelenting guidance and encouragement by Dr. Nishwan Bhatia (Convenor), Ms. Charu Sarin Arora (Co-convenor), Ms. Vrinda Moda, Ms. Isha Mishra, Ms. Bhumika Kapoor.
