

Jessy K Philip received her PhD from Jawaharlal Nehru University (JNU), New Delhi. Her areas of research are caste, agrarian studies, Indian democracy and social movements.

ARTICLES IN PEER –REVIEWED JOURNALS

Though he is a Landlord, that Sarpanch is my Servant!” Caste and Democracy in a Village of South India, Special issue on Caste: Contemporary Dynamics in South Asia and beyond. Journal of Contemporary South Asia, 2017 July Issue 3

Land for dignity and struggle for identity”: Trends in Caste and Class Relations in a Village of South India" Journal of Agrarian Change, forthcoming

Review Article: Lived Realities The Book Review 2016 XL No 8 2

PAPER PRESENTED IN CONFERENCES

“Peasant Populism and Right Wing Politics: A case study from Gadwal, Telangana State of South India” ECSAS 2021 26th European Conference on South Asian Studies, 26 – 29 July 2021

A Re-examination of the idea of Autonomous Dalit Politics in the Neo-liberal World: Evidence from Andhra Pradesh

Conference on Democracy and Dalit Politics in Neoliberal Times, TISS, Mumbai, December 5th 2014

Dalit Politics in the Neo-liberal World: Explorations from Rural Andhra Pradesh

UGC Sponsored National Seminar on ‘Redefining Avenues of Development: Emerging Concerns in the Liberalized Era, November 27-28, 2014.

Chaired a session on Countering public patriarchy [speakers Prof Nonica Datta, Vyjayanti Mogli, National Conference on Celebrating Feminisms: Achievements and Contentions, March 8-9, 2016