18. SWOC Analysis

Strengths- • Faculty closely involved in undergraduate curriculum designing for NEP-UGCF • Diverse academic backgrounds and areas of expertise among faculty members • Dedicated and competent faculty • Cohesiveness among members of the department • Innovative pedagogy • Curriculum enrichment towards providing more opportunities for real life application of concepts through innovative, fieldwork based practicum designs and creative assignments • Alumni excelling in diverse fields. • Closely connected to current as well as past students • Enthusiastic and inquisitive student body • Encouragement of student research, guided by faculty members • Expansion of student research base in the ongoing academic year • Strongly implemented mentor ward system • Practicals and classes designed on progressively moving in-depth into the discipline and interdisciplinary domains, along the three years of studies • Activities in the department focusing on expressive modalities like music, art and writing • Exposing the students to various forms of therapy and research methodology. Weaknesses: • Limited infrastructure, and financial constraints for practical work and research • Few permanent faculty members • Outdated apparatus and instruments for testing and experiments Opportunities: • Popularity of Psychology amongst General Elective options • Opportunity for the department to extend awareness and help with respect to mental health issues to students and members of other departments • Opportunities for exploration of ideas among colleagues specializing in different areas • Hosting programs to reach a wider audience Challenges: • Cultural and linguistic diversity of students in GE courses • Difficulties in coping among students, especially heightened in light of the pandemic • Continued challenges associated with shift to virtual teaching – adapting to changing pedagogy • Dealing with students’ issues pertaining to transitioning back to physical/offline teaching and learning

19. Future Plans

• To create a body for providing no-cost, regular, guided and self-directed opportunities for faculty development in the area of research • To facilitate skill building in students for producing publishable research • To organize in-campus campaigns to spread awareness on mental health issues • To expose students to contemporary forms of therapy through expert led talks and workshops • To incorporate more field visits for students to improve application of classroom learning to real world settings • To organise a bi-annual exhibition, at the end of each semester, to display the research conducted by IInd and IIIrd year students in various practicals • To develop a repository of previous years’ question papers and relevant digital learning resources. • To organise events for students and faculty members for inculcating inclusivity and sensitivity to diversity • To organise events to facilitate post-pandemic transitions for students • To have an annual magazine/newsletter of the department showcasing students’ achievements, research conducted in practicals, reflective assignments and other creative outputs of students. • To strengthen the alumni network. • To have a Career Day with alumni working in various fields as the speakers to make students aware of different career opportunities. • To purchase software for statistical and qualitative analysis to further support research and publication in the department.
