educational/outreach programmes. We can also invite their faculty to teach our students for a brief period.

7. Establish a network of 4-5 Women Colleges in Delhi that can organize seminars/conferences or meet at regular intervals to discuss some relevant issue and then can make a joint statement.
8. Career-Counselling of students to be done at a more extensive scale. Placement Cell can play a more pro-active role in this by inviting representatives from different companies/sectors and hold a one day seminar to familiarize the students with the current job scenario.
9. Research Committee to be more active in tapping the sources available for funding minor/major research projects e.g. UGC, ICSSR etc. To achieve this, expansion of the Research Committee is required and the younger brood of enthusiasts to be engaged.
10. Build a strong database of Alumni keeping a track of the students after they leave college so as to capitalize on their experience and support to take the college forward.
11. Keeping Student Diversity in mind, focus on student groups who need special attention. This should be separate from Remedial Classes. Soft skill development programme should be offered to all students, especially those who come from poor social backgrounds and thus prepare them for the job industry by training them for interviews, how to read study material, to read newspaper daily etc.
12. Some programmes/courses to impart value-based education must be thought of.
13. Introduce short term courses to train the students to go for IAS and UPSC Exams.
14. Father Pius's suggestions: (i) To have Student/Faculty Exchange Programme with German Universities where education is relatively cheaper. (ii) All German Universities offer scholarships (iii) In order to expand the general awareness/knowledge of the students, start a club comprising of teachers and students that can help to disseminate information and knowledge about how to avail national resources. (iv) Different departments should be involved in discussing Urban Issues
15. Summer School can be started where short-term courses can be offered on academic and non-academic subjects, for e.g. on basic computer training, on Statistics, Gender issues etc.
16. Abhinav suggested to establish a proper Publication Unit of the College.
