REPORT
of
UGC Sponsored National Seminar on
Relevance of Mathematics for Employability

22nd—23rd September, 2015

Venue: Jesus and Mary College
Chanakyapuri, New Delhi-110021. India

UGC National Seminar on “Relevance of Mathematics for Employability” sponsored by UGC was organized by the Department of Mathematics from Sept. 22 to 23, 2015.

- Chief guest of the seminar was Prof. Dinesh Singh, then Vice Chancellor, DU. He delivered the inaugural lecture.
- The speakers invited for the seminar delivered talks on varied topics like
 - ‘Mathematics in Data Sciences’,
 - ‘Mathematics in Society’
 - ‘Alumini sharing their experiences’

The Mathematics Department of Jesus and Mary College organised the UGC sponsored national seminar based on ‘Relevance of mathematics for employability’. The seminar was organised as a part of the two-day annual department fest – Matherena.

Prof. (Dr.) Dinesh Singh, Vice Chancellor of Delhi University was the guest speaker for the event. The event was attended by approximately 400 students.

The programme began with the inaugural address of Dr. Dinesh Singh. He talked about the importance of mathematics in today’s scenario and the employability options available to the students pursuing the same. With real examples, he explained how students, with basic knowledge of elementary mathematics, were able to achieve their desired goals. The address was followed by another talk by various industry experts on 'Opportunities of mathematics in Data Sciences'.

A talk on Resume Building followed, where students were given information about having an impressive resume, developing confidence and facing interviews. Then, an interactive Campus to Corporate session by the alumni took place.

Lastly, an innovative presentation on 'Real time application of mathematics' was displayed to the students. The event continued 2nd day with math-oriented events like Sudoku, Red letter Quiz, Faking the research, Mathematical tambola, Mathematical pictionary and Decoding the map.

DEPARTMENT OF POLITICAL SCIENCE

JESUS AND MARY COLLEGE, DELHI UNIVERSITY

ANNUAL REPORT (2016-17)

The year 2016-17 has truly been an extremely dynamic and prolific year for the Department of Political Science, Jesus and Mary College, Delhi University. The session began with elections for the office bearers in August under the conscientious supervision of Ms. Tanuja Sachdev, Teacher-In-Charge of the Department. The office of President was held by Rashi Sharma with Aishwarya Titus elected as the Vice President for a term of one year.

The Department chose to start the term by sterling of FREEDOM OF SPEECH AND EXPRESSION through an assembly presented by the 2nd years on August 8th. Following this were the much-awaited Freshers' celebration based on the theme COACHELLA held on August 31st with the thorough engagement of the seniors in welcoming the fresher students to the department and o the college. Ms. Political Science and Ms. Coachella were chosen after rounds of auditioning and an intra-department voting. Ms. Damini Kain brought pride to the Political Science family by winning the inter-college fresher title of Ms. Talented.

On September 5th, students of all 3 years put their best foot forward in organising the Teachers' day celebrations by arranging for thoughtful gifts and lip-smacking refreshments for the teachers. The students of the department were also successful in putting up a series of well-coordinated cultural programs and collectively thanked the teachers for their unsullied service to the department and the college.

The second Assembly of the session took place on September 12th on the misconceptions regarding Teenage Suicides by the 3rd years. On September 19th, the students of the department got a real insight on, "South Asia as a Region" by Prof. Emeritus S.D. Muni. With great zeal and enthusiasm, the department invited the Asmita Theatre Group on September 27th to perform amongst their most celebrated plays, COURT MARTIAL as a curtain raiser to the annual fest which was to be held in exact 1 month from this date. The Curtain Raiser received an overwhelming response with over 3500 seated audiences and many more awaiting their entry into the college's Multi-Purpose Hall.

The department also conducted 2 seminars on "How to crack professional interviews" and "Careers in IAS" on the same day of October 19th. Following this was the radically successful food sale on October 20th conducted by the department. The stall was a part of the annual Diwali mela- Sparsh. This sale was called "Grab the Grub" and boy, the students did grab it!

The All India Political Parties' Meet (AIPPM), a pan-India conference held on October 26th and 27th, as a part of the academic fest, which saw students as political representatives. It was a mock academic simulation of a thought of meet of the various political parties of the country. The agenda for the 2 day discussion was "Caste: Beef ban Politics; and asserting the hierarchy in the society".

The annual Academic Festival of the Department, Politologue'16 took place on October 27th. This festival saw the participation of over 300 people from various colleges across Delhi spread across the 8 events which ranging from Slam Poetry, Online Photography Competition, a one minute Karo Rajneeti competition, to a Throne's Quest treasure hunt, a Film Review competition and Poster Making.

The students of the Political Science department, in their black and white self-designed T-shirts, worked relentlessly with the aim of making this an academic-cultural event. Participants took back great lessons of politics, learnt in the most fun and enjoyable ways, along with many goodies and prizes.

An assembly by the 1st years took place on January 9th on the sudden policy of "Demonetization" adopted by the government in the later dates of November. An educative talk by the eminent Sociologist Ms. Ambar Ahmad on "Un/Covered Bodies: Women and the Politics of Dress" in which she threw a spotlight on the influences of dresses in the society which left everyone in awe and the speaker made efforts to address various questions raised by the students. The Annual College Sports day took place on the March 9th, in which the Department of Political Science was victorious in races and team competitions.

On March 24th 2017, an informal chat session was organised with Hannah Cockburn, Head of Political and Bilateral Affairs for the UK High Commission in New Delhi. This event which took place in the Hall witnessed a thrilling conversation on India-UK Relations.

The final assembly of the year took place on April 10th, a light-hearted presentation by the first years on eve-teasing and the Anti-Romeo squads. The Academic and Cultural term came to an end on the April 21st where the 1st and 2nd year students along with the teachers bid adieu to the Class of 2017.

FACULTY COLLOQUIUM TALK ON "THE CULTURAL PHENOMENA OF POST MODERNISM AND WOMEN'S CONFLICTED SPACES": INAUGURAL TALK BY DR TAISHA ABRAHAM

The Research Committee of Jesus and Mary College
Faculty Colloquium Series

Inaugural Talk

by

Taisha Abraham

The Cultural Phenomena of Postmodernism and Women's Conflictual Spaces

ABSTRACT

Our current society has replaced all reality and meaning with symbols and signs and human experience is a simulation of reality. We live in a world dominated by images that pretend to depict a reality but that depict only themselves. The Marxists by focusing on the economic base are being distracted from the cultural realm by the capitalists. In this sense Marxists are idealists and culture critics are materialists because things are happening at the level of signs.

Date: 11th April 2018

Venue: 408

Time: 12.30 p.m.

About the Speaker

Dr. Taisha Abraham is an Associate Professor in the department of English, Jesus & Mary College. She received her PhD degree from the State University of New York at Stony Brook, USA. Dear colleagues, Please find attached the details of the Inaugural Talk by Dr Taisha Abraham on 11th April (Wednesday) at 12:30 in Room 408, which is part of the Faculty Colloquium Series hosted by the college's research committee. Dr Abraham will be speaking on 'The Cultural Phenomena of Postmodernism and Women's Conflictual Spaces'.

Broadly speaking, this colloquium series is a platform for JMC colleagues to share their academic pursuits within the interdisciplinary paradigm. As an official beginning to the series, the inaugural talk has been organized. We request you to join the session and to be part of this endeavor to further research interests within the faculty.

We also request TICs to inform their retired faculty members of this inaugural talk and the faculty colloquium series.

Regards,
Dr Maya John

Multiple Childhoods in India - Voices of the Subaltern

23rd and 24th October, 2019

Venue: Jesus and Mary College
Chanakyapuri, New Delhi-110021. India

A Report of the Two-Day National Seminar – Multiple Childhoods in India - Voices of the Subaltern (23-24 October 2019)

Multiple Childhoods in India: Voices of the Subaltern - A two-day UGC sponsored National Seminar by the Department of Elementary Education of Jesus and Mary College was inaugurated by Sister Rosily, the principal of the college and a faculty member of the Department of Elementary Education. Referring to the central role of the college to empower women Sister Rosily warmly invited the participants and guests to challenge singular notions and imageries of childhood.

Ms. Mansi Aneja shared the Concept note of the National Seminar and helped set the tone for the National Seminar.

Dr. Sona Andrew, the convenor of the National Seminar introduced the Key Note Speaker - Prof. Namita Ranganathan, Dept of Education, University of Delhi.

Prof. Namita Ranganathan through her five compelling stories from Kashmir to Tamil Nadu, included accounts from Odisha, Delhi and Rann of Kutch - explored the social-cultural position that stressed the interface between literacy, play, work and gender of the child and the cultures of home, community, and the school. Examining children from these diverse perspectives provided a multidimensional view that deepens understanding and opens up new avenues for research and educational practice.

Too often, in reflecting the value of child-initiated activities, education sets the stage for the growth and development of children and yet hesitates to intervene in that play for fear that to intervene is to create a developmentally inappropriate set of educational practices, yet one is led to wonder whether the lack of intervention may contribute to limiting the educational outcomes of the child's growth.

Dr. Nandita Chaudhary invited us to examine forms and limits of human inquiry. Human beings she said, unlike atoms or molecules, are endowed with cognitive agency. Our grasp of the world, and of ourselves, are not merely responses to external stimuli; they are reflective and reflexive products of human inquiry. She invited us to explore various subaltern concepts and viewpoints, like subtractive knowledge, cultural wisdom and indigenous knowledge frameworks.

The Panel Discussion on Childhood in Conflict Zones, chaired by Dr. Asha Singh with discussants - Dr. Anandini Dar, Dr. Sarbani Sharma and Doctoral Scholar Parul Malik brought together studies, research syntheses, and critical commentaries that examined conflict-child relationships from cognitive, ecological, and cultural perspectives. The focus of the commentaries was to hold research on Childhood and Children and literacy up to scrutiny in terms of scientific significance, methodology, and utility for practice.

In Prof. Sinha's address on 'Children's Literature' we were led to confront an adult discomfort over the multifaceted dimensions of the emotive appeal of literature, as she encouraged adults both to support children's desires to experience in imagination the limits of life and death, and to travel with children on their transformational journeys into unknown territory.

The Panel Discussion on 'Representation of Childhood in Children's Literature', chaired by Dr. Suneeta Mishra with discussants- Dr. Prachi Kalra and Dr. Sonika Kaushik focussed on the representation of childhood and that of complexities of growing up years in literature. While Dr. Kaushik discussed the representation of childhood through various illustrations, Dr. Prachi discussed the literature for young adults and their representation within novels. The focus of the panel was to discuss the need for representing the worldview of children and young adults within the literature published for them.

Ms. Geeta Dharmarajan, in her address on 'Those Magical Years: Interweaving Childhood and narratives', looked at how literature based on contextual experiences of underprivileged children directs them towards a participatory growth. The session further emphasised the need for collaboration of academia and the organisations working with the children from different socio-economic groups in order to create literature for children that has sound theoretical underpinnings.

This National Seminar provided teachers and learners, researchers and students with a sound theoretical framework for re-conceptualising significant aspects of childhood. Its many practical thought-provoking vignettes of the disruptive make this a compelling and provocative experience for any student willing to glimpse the fascinating life and times of the Child.
